

Henderson House

Exclusive Book Club Preorder Offer

A boardinghouse full of secrets. A summer that changes everything.

Dear Book Club Leader,

I'm thrilled to be able to offer you and your book club members an exclusive offer to preorder Henderson House and invite me to attend your meeting to discuss the book either virtually or in-person if you are interested and our calendars magically align! This enchanting story of sisters, secrets, and later-in-life romance in 1940s Oklahoma always fosters interesting discussions around strong women in our own family histories and how we respond when love and responsibility pull us in different directions. Details below. Hope to see you! Best, Caren Simpson McVicker

- Click here to preorder before February 25, 2027.
- Enter the total number of books for your book club and ship to one address to save on shipping.
- Add Discount or Gift Card and enter PREORDER2027 to receive an additional 15% off. The price comes down to just $17.81 per book and they usually arrive early!
- Forward a copy of your receipt to me@carenmcvicker.com and let me know when and where your book club meets and if you'd like me to attend.

About the Author

Born in Oklahoma, Caren is an enrolled member of the Cherokee Nation and now lives in a very old house in Vermont with her husband, a rescue pup, and a hand-me-down cat. She's a proud theater geek, a soprano, and a free-wheeling gardener who appreciates a little chaos in the landscape.

Caren is the author of the Henderson House historical fiction series, a co-founder of the Southern Vermont Writers' Conference, and a producer and scriptwriter of the documentary, An Arrow Shot Through Time, which explores an extraordinary act of generosity between the Choctaw Nation and the Irish during the Great Hunger of 1847. When she's not writing, singing, or digging in the dirt, she's usually thinking about heartwarming stories that connect people across time, place, and culture.

